PLAYBOY'S

COLLEGE GIRLS

PLAYBOY PRESS

Each year as College Girls falls together and the never-ending variety of young women are interviewed, photographed and eventually find their way into print, I'm amazed by the success of what has almost become a Playboy franchise. What started as a decent idea for a pictorial 22 years ago has become an annual rite as predictable as the swallows returning to Capistrano. To quote Playboy's veteran photographer David Chan from my interview with him back in 1996: "When we started in the spring of 1977 the college girl theme seemed like a good idea, but I didn't think it would continue for more than a few years." At one of his infamous Chinese dinners David must have opened a fortune cookie that read, "Take a good idea and stick with it," because not only has the theme continued but it's grown and expanded and has become a Playboy institution right along with the Playmate, Advisor and interview. This spring David will take part in his 28th college campaign, Girls of the Pac Ten, continuing the tradition for yet another year. The Newsstand Specials have capitalized on this legacy, using PLAYBOY's fall pictorial and expanding on it—throwing our nets farther and wider to find college women outside the confines of the large athletic conferences. In this fifth edition of College Girls you'll find beautiful students from universities large and small, as well as from community colleges and tech schools from Vancouver to San Diego to New York City to Houston. They study communications, sociology, graphic design, business management, psychology and, yes, even molecular genetics. In mind, body and spirit these young students represent today's youthful energy and sexuality, just as those who first posed did back in the late Seventies when this all began. In fact, we'd like to hear from those pioneers who first stepped into the Playboy spotlight ten, 15, 20 years ago. If you know a woman who posed, invite her to contact us. We'd love to hear the details of her post-college and post-Playboy life. Perhaps we can add her comments to the issue of College Girls we're planning to publish this fall. Like all other women, she'll have stories and adventures, successes and failures. But like few others, she'll be part of a unique sorority—let's call it Phi Beta Playboy.

AIMEE WERTH
San Diego State

Combining her quest for adventure with her thirst for travel, Aimee picked up and moved from her home in Oregon to San Diego—leaving family and friends behind—to continue her studies in international business. She hopes to get a job that will take her even further and more frequently afar.

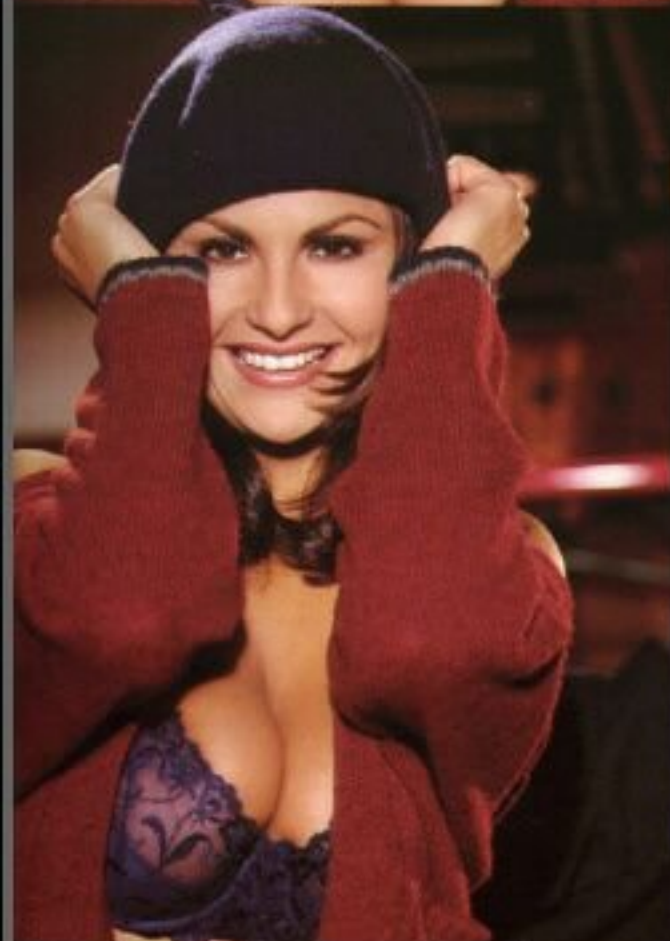

LEANA PENNINGTON
University of Kansas

She describes herself as "S.S.B.S.—single, sexy brown sugar"—and likes Michael Jackson and having a blast on Bourbon Street. Her motto? "I can be as good as the best of them and as bad as the worst." Accounting will pay the bills if her modeling career fizzles. Vital stats: 5'8", 120 lbs., 34-24-34.

DIANA BARANOWSKA
British Columbia Institute of Technology

A Canadian of Polish birth, Diana is studying business management and is determined to someday be her own boss. She admits to being a party animal with a fun attitude but is sometimes "difficult to please." But, she says, trying to please her is worth the effort. Vital stats: 5'6", 120 lbs., 34-24-35.

Studious (dean's list) and athletic (weight lifting, mountain biking, tennis), Natalie is working on her master's degree in finance and accounting.
Vital stats: 5'6", 108 lbs., 34-24-34.

NATALIE BROOKS
Georgia State University

SYLVIA KELLY
College of DuPage

Wild, funny and superactive as a kid, Sylvia still manages to keep three balls in the air at once. When she's not at the library studying psychology or reading at home for pleasure, she's playing basketball, meeting friends or working out. Vital stats: 5'7", 117 lbs., 36-24-36

HEATHER CHADWELL Case Western Reserve

Nothing if not determined, Heather made sure she made the grade to transfer from a community college to Western Reserve, where she's working on her B.S. in biology and chemistry. A career with the FBI as a forensic pathologist is her next goal. Vital stats: 5'6", 127 lbs., 36-26-33.

FASHION INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

NATASHA PODKUYKO
Fashion Institute of Technology

Creative and spontaneous, Natasha looks for the same characteristics in men. Modesty and a little romance are pluses, too, and may even win her over. Bragging and selfishness will get a guy the door. Eventually she hopes to become a professional illustrator, but having been bitten by the modeling bug, she'll follow that road as far as it goes. Vital stats: 5'10", 130 lbs., 34-25-37.

EL CENTRO FOURTH CITY COLLEGE

MISTI MAGOUIRK

El Centro C.C.

◀ She graduated high school with honors, won a college athletic scholarship and plans to major in finance and minor in a foreign language.

BUCKEYES

LEXI ASHBY

▼ Her approach to fear is to face it head on. "I was terrified on the Playboy shoot at first. I couldn't stop shaking. Finally I relaxed and ended up loving it!"

Marriage will definitely have to wait until Alicia finishes her degree in computer science, but she knows exactly what she's looking for in a man. "He has to be able to have a conversation with me for more than two minutes, he has to be good-looking and he has to have a great personality. No personality, no date." Vital stats: 5'7", 120 lbs., 33-23-34.

ALICIA WILLIAMS
Joliet Junior College

WASHBURN
UNIVERSITY

SAMANTHA CRAWFORD
Washburn University

"Hobbies? What hobbies? All I do is study!" Well, not totally. When her nursing class schedule allows it, Samantha loves to travel, lie in the sun, drink beer and dance. She's not too fussy about a guy's appearance, but he "must look good in a suit and enjoy wearing one."

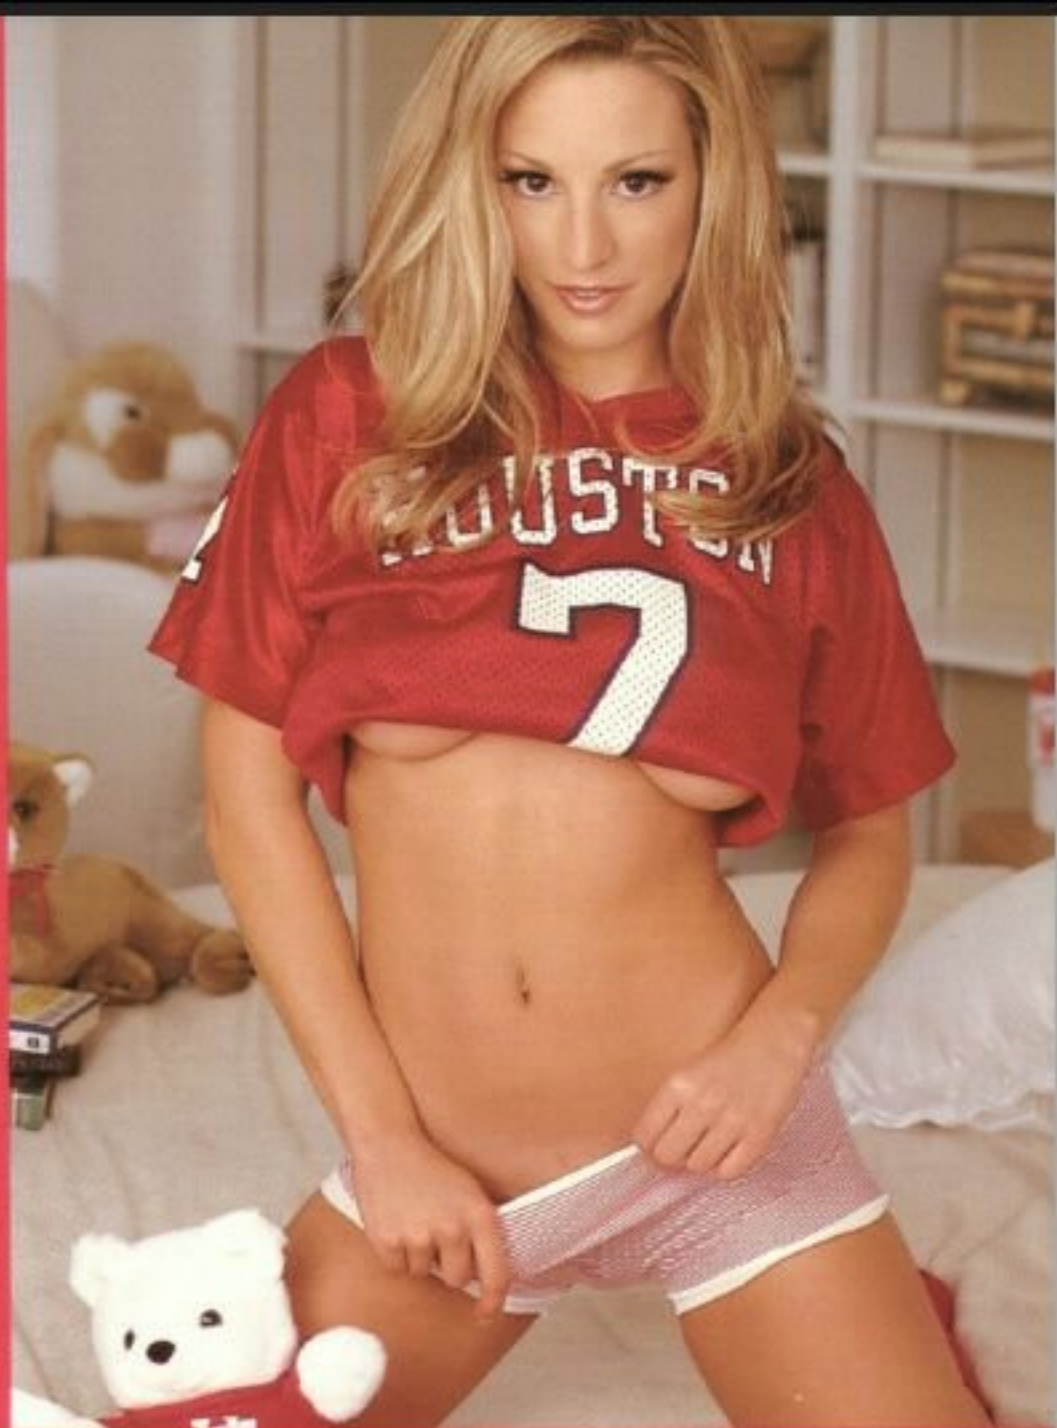

MEGAN MCKENNEY
University of Houston

A Hooters calendar girl, a member of the Texas Bikini Team and a communications major, Megan doesn't have much time to date, but when she does she's turned on by chivalry, soft lips and sexy hands. If this popular, energetic, honor-roll student admits to any fault it's that she's "too nice. It drives me crazy—I always end up overextending myself."

Vital stats: 5'1", 102 lbs., 34-21-32.

GLoucester County College

JEANNETTE KIZIRIAN
Gloucester C.C.

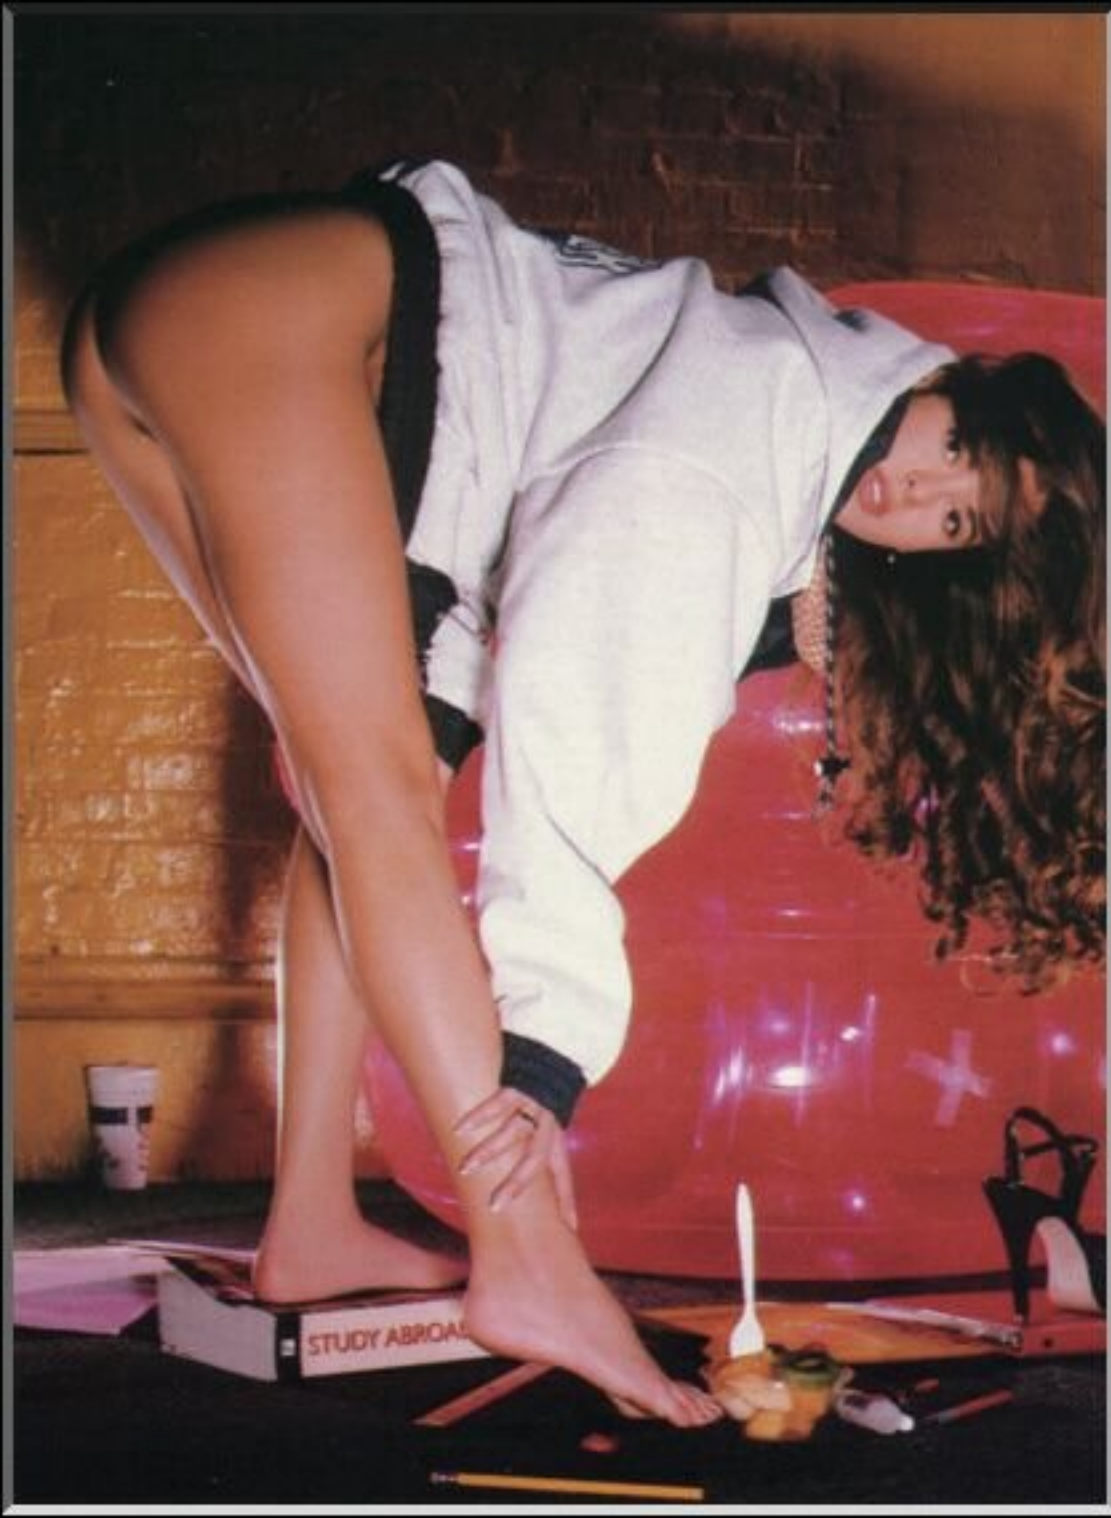

An elementary school teaching position, an acting career, a husband and two children are on her postgrad wish list. For now she loves to have a great time. "I'm laid-back, funny, sweet and am looking for someone who's intelligent, sensitive and spontaneous."

Vital stats: 5'5", 105 lbs., 34-24-34

TRACY CALLIHAN
San Jacinto College

While in high school, this Texan took classical ballet, studied journalism and was a member of the precision drill team, but now her focus has shifted toward earning an education degree. She collects Barbie dolls, comic books and action figures, and whenever she can she heads to the Texas Gulf Coast to surf.
Vital stats: 5'1", 95 lbs., 33-23-33.

KRISTEN STORK
Shippensburg University

She deliberately chose this school for its low student population and compact campus, but Kristen admits "if you're under 21 there really isn't anywhere to go in a small town," so she keeps busy and involved by running track, working out with the dance club and covering sports for the yearbook.

Both beautiful and brainy, Brenda is undecided about her plans after college, but her opportunities seem limitless. And though she takes her studies very seriously, when she gets a chance she can party with the best of them.

BRENDA STOCK
Waukesha Tech

SHEILA BELL
North Central Texas College

"I'm a simple woman. I like walks in the park, thunderstorms and candlelight dinners. I'm very upbeat, so whether I end up married with three kids or pursuing a career in criminal justice or show business, I'll excel at it and love life."

Vital stats: 5'8", 118 lbs., 34-24-34.

CHERYL STELL
San Jacinto College

She's won awards for her artistic talent since elementary school and would like to work as a graphic designer. "Who knows, maybe one day I'll design the cover of Cosmo—or even PLAYBOY!" She describes herself as natural, funloving, athletic and exotic.

Vital stats: 5'7", 115 lbs., 34-23-34.

ALEJANDRA CRUZ
Texas Woman's University

A master's degree in bilingual education will, she hopes, let her help make assimilation easier for young Hispanic schoolkids. She's very studious but allows time for her happy-go-lucky nature to emerge. She loves to party, play pool and hang out with friends. Vital stats: 5'6", 115 lbs., 34-24-34.

EMILY ALEXANDER
American River College

Hyper as a kid, impatient as an adult ("I want things when I want them!"), Emily confessed that she deliberately tripped a guy as he was walking by to get his attention. It did. Her motto? "Don't ask if you don't want to know."

Vital stats: 5'7", 120 lbs., 36-26-34.

CATHERINE AND ISABELLE BOURASSA
John Abbott College

Like the genetic duplicates they are, these Canadian twins share the same interests, hobbies and ambitions—as well as pretty spectacular faces and forms. Each measures in at 5'6", 125 lbs., 34-26-36 and each enjoys music, meeting people and traveling.

BRANDY RITCHEY
Illinois State University

You can't get much more middle American than growing up in Peoria, Illinois, but Brandy's hardly provincial. She's a painter and ceramicist, loves to visit museums and has a passion for skiing, horseback riding and running.

Vital stats: 5'8", 124 lbs., 34-24-34.

AMY HUFF
Chico State

Personality is what first attracts her to a man ("Who wants a jerk who looks great in the morning?"), but looks help. "It's a total package, baby! If I'm giving a total package I'd like the same in return." Her ambition is to "graduate with the class of 2000, manipulate the stock market and make millions."

This communications major hopes to keep the modeling ball rolling during college, then move into the entertainment industry. She describes herself as "a funloving, silly, everyday kind of girl" who's attracted to tall, blue-green-eyed men. Vital stats: 5'6", 110, 34-24-34.

LONGVIEW COMMUNITY COLLEGE

CANDICE BUCHANAN
Longview C.C.

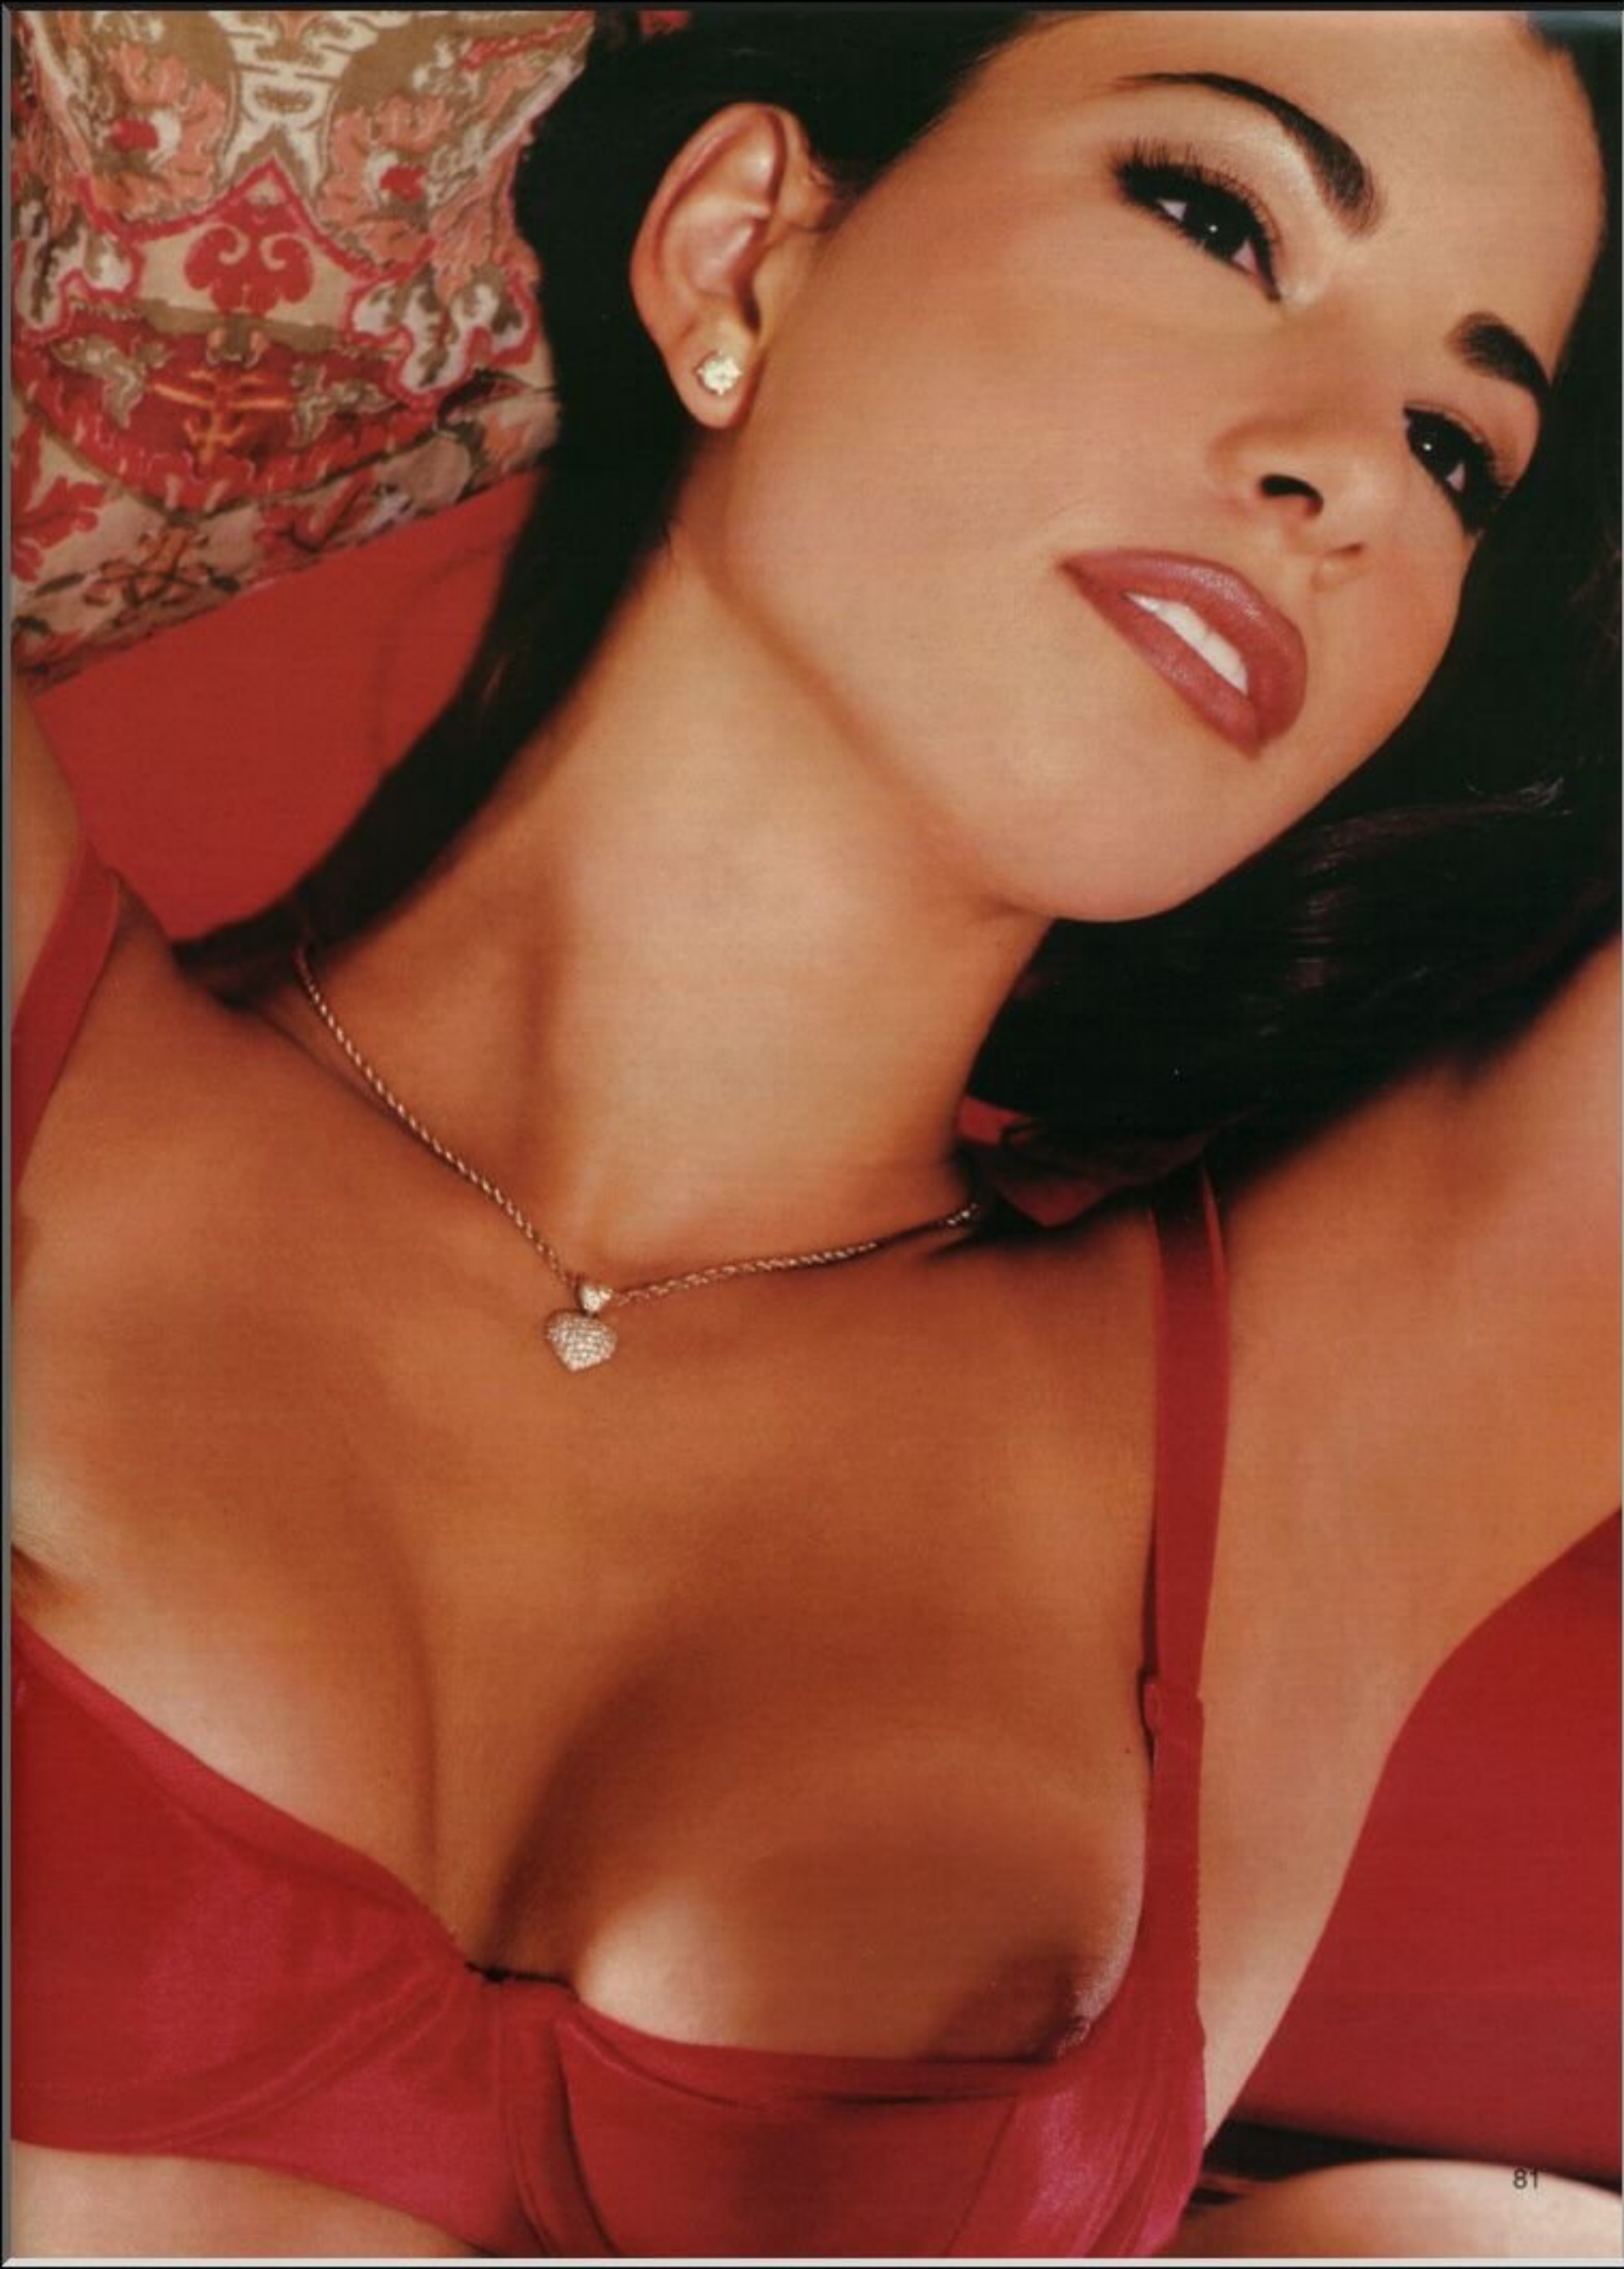

STAR BEHL
Delaware Tech

Her first name may be prophetic: She hopes to hit it big in television. Performing is in her blood—her grandmother, with whom she shares a birthday, was Miss Trenton in the 1940s and Star herself was Miss Delaware USA 1996.

Working toward her master's in sociology, Cristin hopes eventually to teach at the university level, but first she'd like to do field research in Africa, focusing on gender and sexuality. She unwinds by playing tennis, Rollerblading or scuba diving.

CRISTIN FITZPATRICK
University of Texas

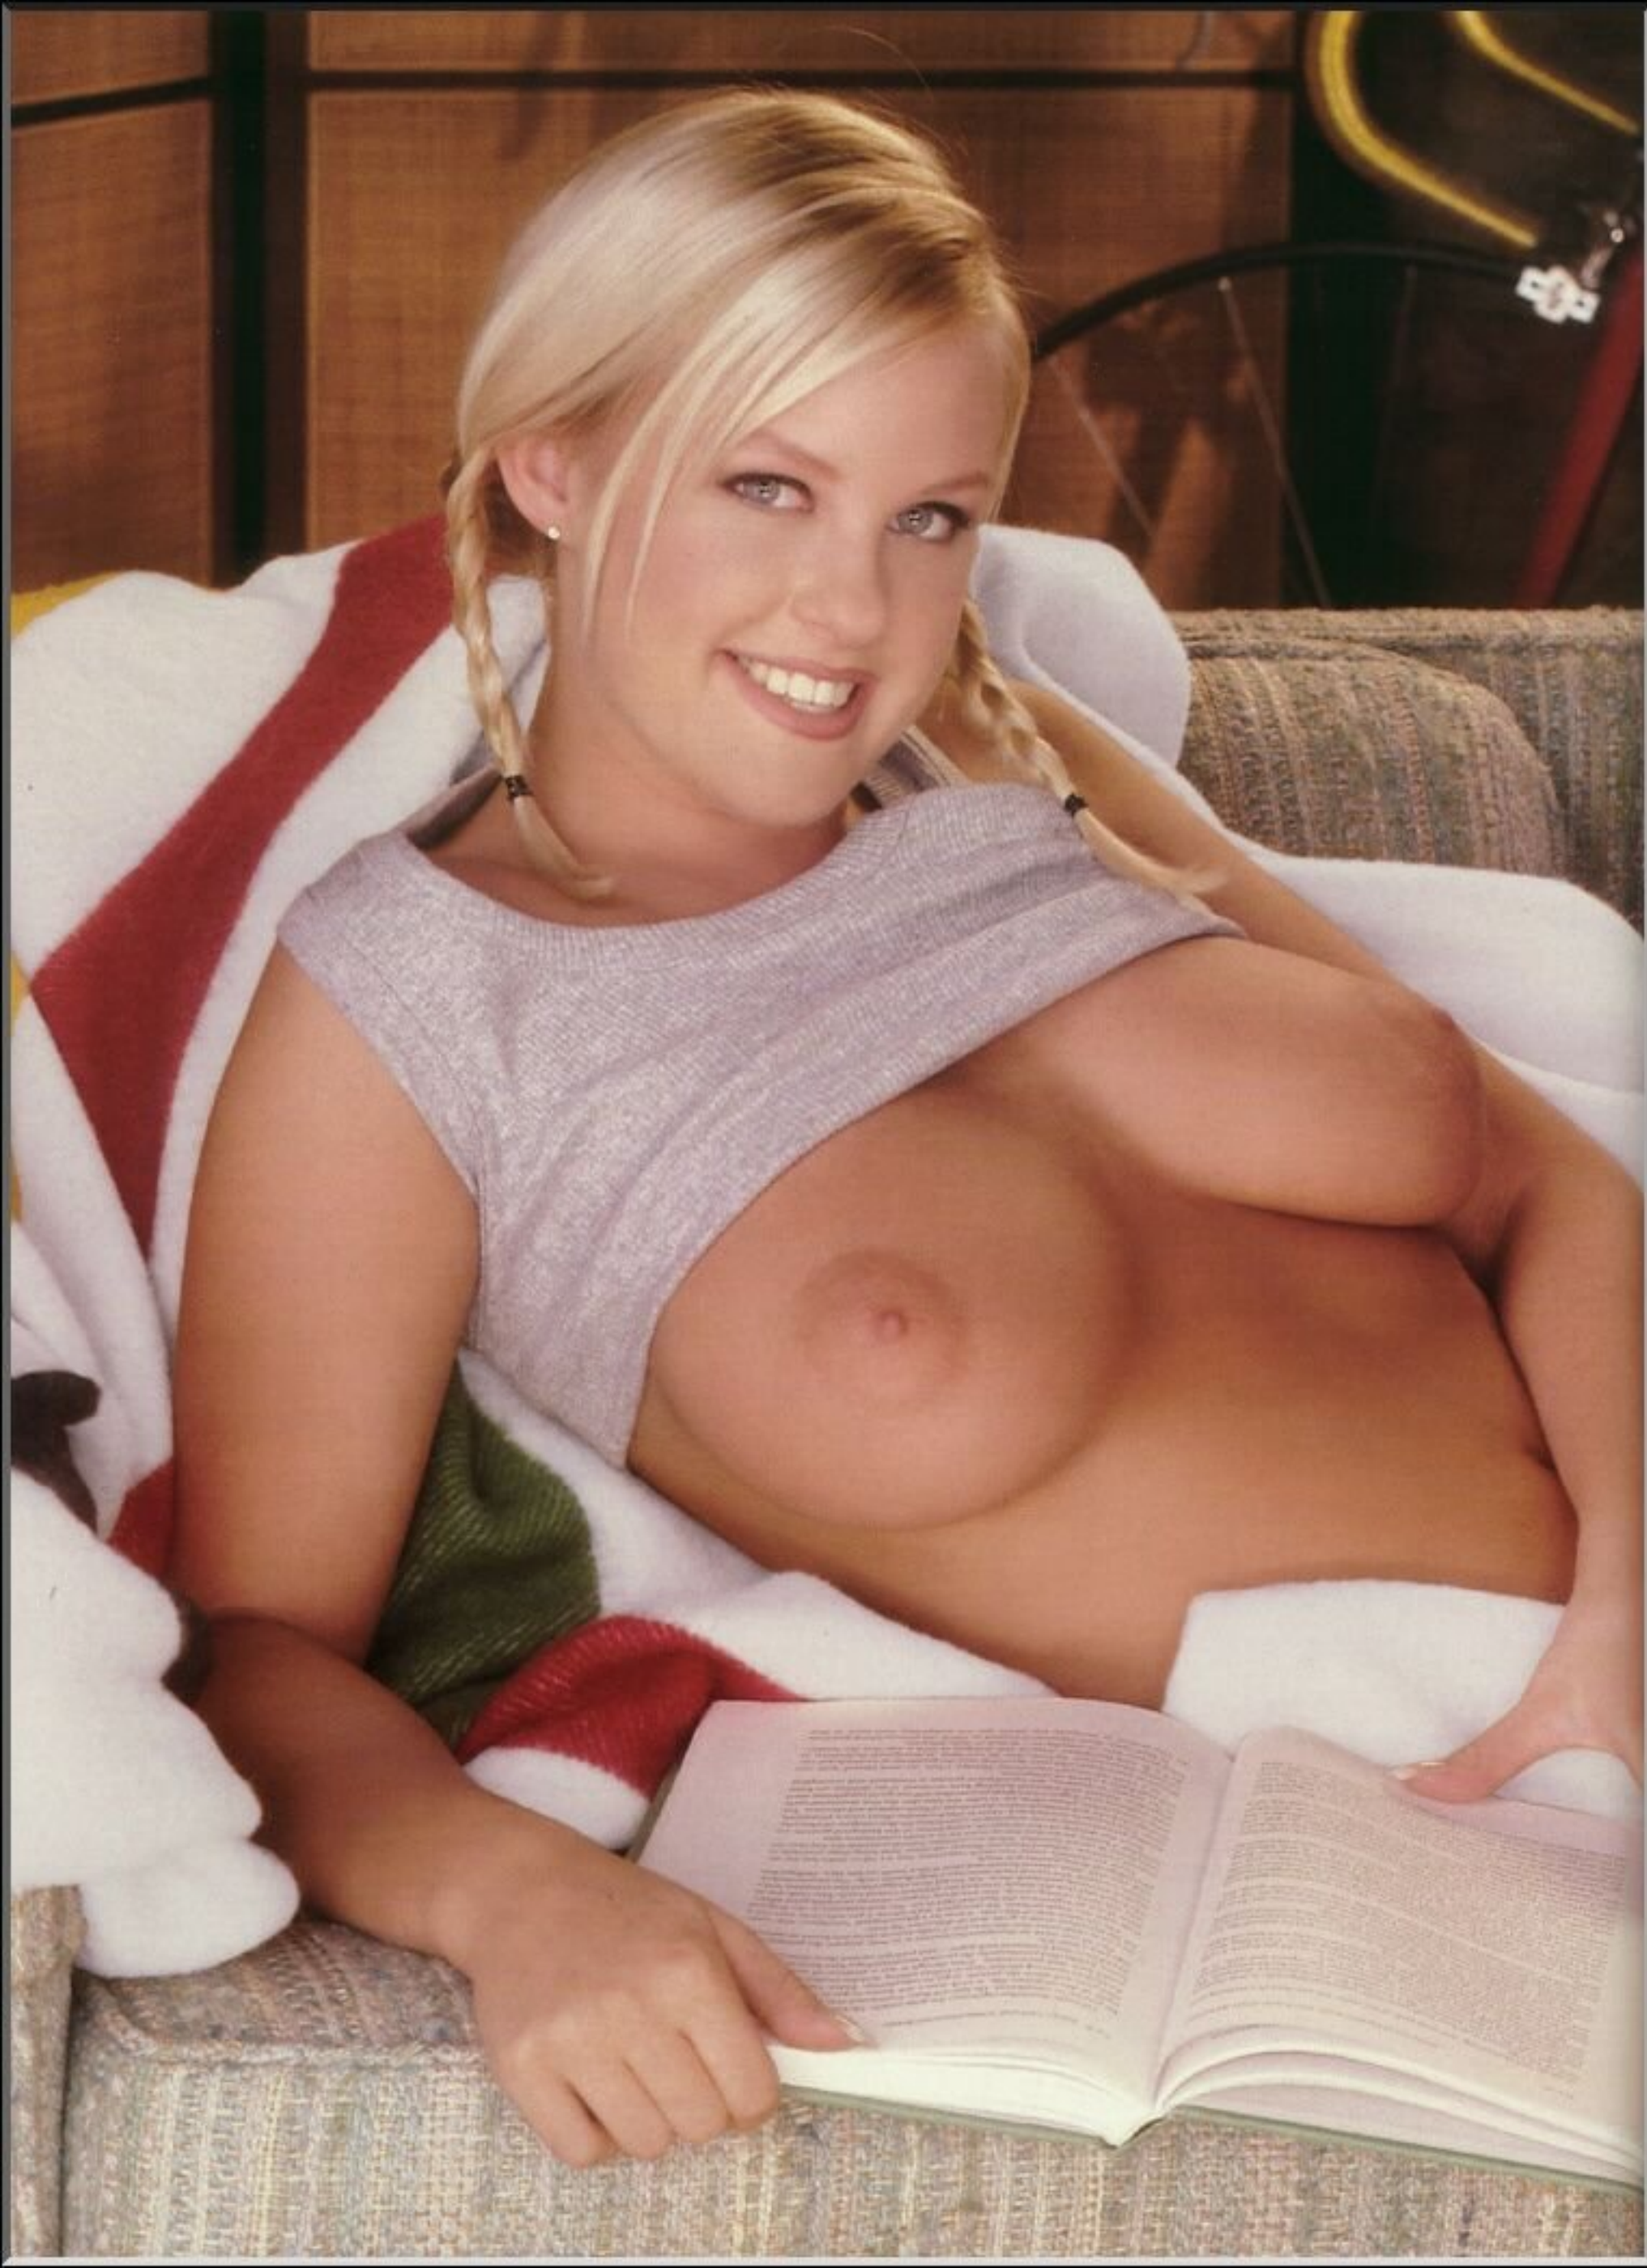

CAROLEE BASS
Arizona State University

Hiking and fishing as she grew up established a love of the outdoors, which persists today. Every summer she works with her stepfather six days a week, 15 hours a day in a gold mine on Abmerty Island in Alaska. Energetic and athletic, she was voted Rookie of the Year on her cross-country track team.

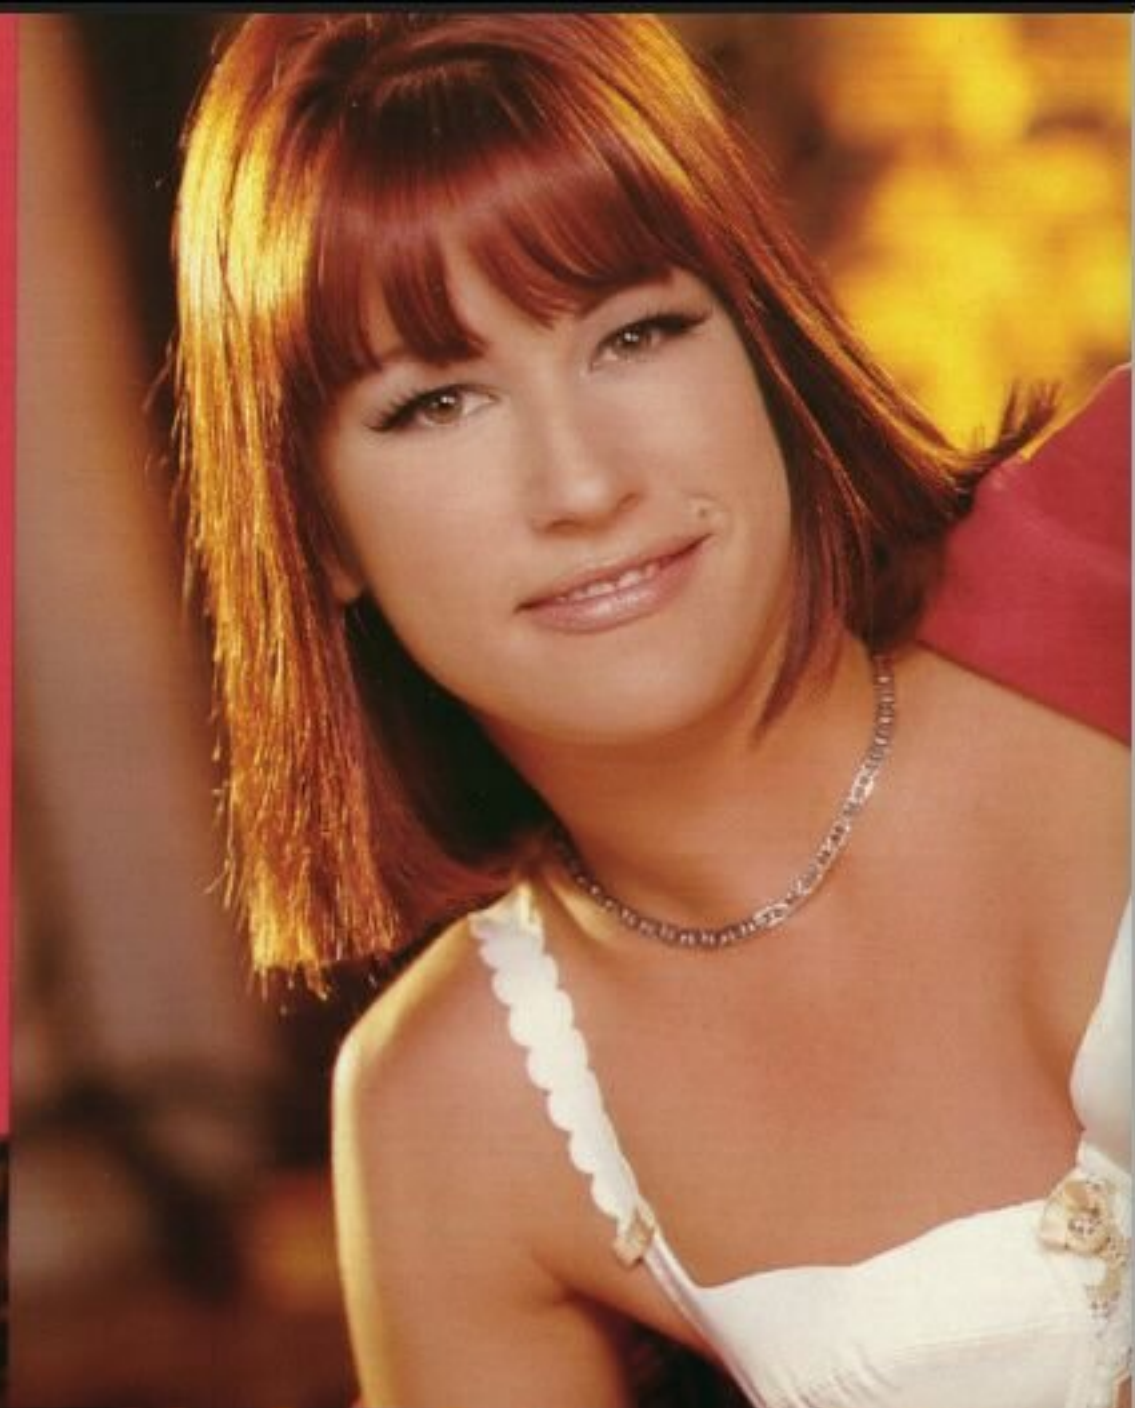

SALLY GERELUS
San Diego City College

A business major who hopes to own her own clothing store one day, Sally may also try giving a singing career her best shot. "I love singing more than anything. If I could, I'd model myself after Madonna. She's brilliantly talented, beautiful and a mom."

A degree in special education is still three years away for this freshman—as is her dream to “touch the hearts and souls of the less fortunate.” If she were snowed in at a mountaintop cabin somewhere she’d hope it was with a jock, not a computer geek. “What could be better than to snuggle up to a big dumb guy and watch a crackling fire?”

ERICA SMITHEMAN
Camden County

ANGIE BAKER
Kennesaw State

She describes herself as a "bubbly, crazy, petite blonde with a big sense of humor" whose romantic counterpart should be "dark, with a big body, great personality and good cooking skills." She hopes her marketing degree will get her in the corporate door and then lead her straight to the top.

LETTERS OF THE MONTH

I just picked up my copy of Girls of Winter and all I can say is thank you, thank you, thank you! Ever since I first feasted my eyes on the luscious Karen McDougal I've felt like a guy with a sweet tooth who only gets one bite of the cookie. I want more, more, more. She's easily one of the most beautiful women I have ever seen. ...C.R.K.

You know, I like outdoor nude shots, but there's something about being naked in cold weather and snow that doesn't do it for me. I keep thinking of how painful it must be! How many girls actually enjoy taking their clothes off in freezing weather? ...R.B.

My deepest respect to Stephen Wayda and Gen Nishino for their beautiful photos. In the Girls of Winter the Karen McDougal photo on page 90 is so enchanting—like a beautiful, sensual, alluring forest nymph. And in the same issue, Carla Pivonski on pages 36 and 37 is the most beautiful testament to the beauty in this world. When I looked at it, the photo made me feel very good inside. ...L.V.

I enjoyed Voluptuous Vixens but I'm sure there are many males besides myself who believe that a woman's best side is the one she sits on. Here's hoping to see a Fabulous Fannies out there soon. ...M.C.

I'm far from a religious man, but God bless you for publishing so many new pictures of an all-time fave, Chrissy Ranay, in Girls of Winter. She took my breath away when I first laid eyes on her a few years back, and I've picked up each subsequent NSS hoping for more. She is truly the epitome of the girl next door—incidentally sweet and sexy. Encore, encore! ...R.H.

I wasn't exactly sure what I was going to get when I opened the poly bag, but the birthdays NSS was one of the best in a long time. More classic Playmates! I'd buy Celebrating Centerfolds as a monthly. ...K.P.
